Word on Fire Institute

Catholic in America's Special Guests

One of the strengths of the Catholic in America show format is found in its modularity. One episode may be a discussion between 3 priests about demons or purgatory, while the next episode may feature a one-on-one interview with a highly revered expert from around the country. Recently, Father Michael sat down with two guests from the Word on Fire Institute, Dr. Christopher Kaczor and Dr. Holly Ordway, to discuss their recently authored books.

Dr Christopher Kaczor is Professor of Philosophy at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles, and earned his PhD at Notre Dame. In his book, "Jordan Peterson, God, and Christianity", Dr. Kaczor explores Jordan Peterson's understanding of the book of Genesis, his view of religion in society, and his so-called "12 Rules for Life". Many Christians often wonder whether Jordan Peterson's teachings are compatible with the Catholic faith, as Dr. Peterson avoids defining his religious beliefs, but rather describes himself as a person "who acts as if God exists, and is terrified that He might". In the interview, Dr. Kaczor explains Peterson's sense of religion, universal lessons we can extract from the Old Testament, as well as Dr. Kaczor's own faith journey.

Dr. Holly Ordway, PhD in English from the University of Massachusetts Amherst, is the author of the book "Tolkien's Modern Reading: Middle-Earth Beyond the Middle Ages". In her interview with Father Michael, she discusses her faith journey and how her decision to research the bible to better understand the inspiration behind Tolkien and CS Lewis's works, unexpectedly led to her conversion to Catholicism.

You can view both of these interviews on the our website at: SaintDominicMedia.com .
